Practice profile

Roger Beresford is widely regarded as one of the leading commercial juniors at the Hong Kong bar, and has wide experience of commercial litigation, along with telecommunications, securities, banking and finance, professional negligence, fraud and insurance. He also has significant experience of competition law and administrative law cases. He is an experienced advocate appearing before courts at all levels, the Securities and Futures Appeals Tribunal, the Telecommunications (Competition Provisions) Appeal Board and before arbitral tribunals. Roger has advised in Takeover Panel and Hong Kong Stock Exchange Listing Committee matters. Roger has a keen interest in mediation as an effective means of dispute resolution that remains within the control of the parties.

Recent cases have included a challenge by telecom operators to licence fees as hidden taxation, a determination of the nature of the Internet, and a cross-jurisdictional claim against an art dealer for breach of fiduciary duty in the purchase of many works by Picasso, Da Vinci, van Gogh and others.
